

New Challenge for Spring

Our next challenge is just a title. Which is “connections”

This could be interpreted in so many ways and in so many mediums.

Many of us are becoming competent artists and able to produce an attractive decorative piece of art, but are we becoming competent at delivering a feeling or clear message with that piece. The challenge here is to clearly convey the feeling of “connections” whilst still producing a well-balanced and designed artwork.

e.g.,

1. A family group who are connected by genetics and emotional ties.
2. A group of a particular species of plants, birds, animals etc.
3. A romantic connection between a couple
4. A warm connection of analogous colours or a cool connection
5. A connection of similar shapes or textures
6. An electronic connection of circuits or mechanical cogs and wheels.

The list could be endless however the clear message and emotion of the piece should be “connections.”

This work should be ready for the challenge by Easter time.
